TECHNICAL PAPER NUMBER 115

1980 CENSUS OF POPULATION AND HOUSING: SELECTED DATA

DECEMBER, 1984

RHODE ISLAND STATEWIDE PLANNING PROGRAM
265 Melrose Street
Providence, Rhode Island 02907

The Rhode Island Statewide Planning Program is established by Chapter 42-11 of the General Laws as the central planning agency for state government. The work of the Program is guided by the State Planning Council, comprised of state, local, and public representatives and federal and other advisors. The Office of State Planning, a division of the Department of Administration, is the staff component of the Program.

The objectives of the Program are to plan for the physical, economic, and social development of the state; to coordinate the activities of governmental agencies and private individuals and groups within this framework of plans and programs; and to provide planning assistance to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the agencies of state government. The Program prepares and maintains the State Guide Plan as the principal means of accomplishing these objectives. The State Guide Plan is comprised of a series of functional elements which deal with physical development and environmental concerns, the economy, and human services.

This technical paper is one of a series prepared by the Office of State Planning. These papers present information developed through Program activities to state and federal agencies, local governments, and the public.

Program activities are supported by state appropriations and federal grants. The contents of this report reflect the views of the Statewide Planning Program, which is responsible for the accuracy of the facts and data presented herein. The contents do not necessarily reflect the official views or policies of other sponsoring agencies. This publication is based upon publicly-supported research and may not be copyrighted. It may be reprinted, in part or in full, with the customary crediting of the source.

PREFACE

This technical paper provides base data at the census tract level from the 1980 Census of Population and Housing, Summary Tape Files 1A and 3A, and the 1970 Census of Population and Housing, First Count Tape. The tract information presented in this paper is for categories in which there are few suppressions. Data items are: total population, total white population, total housing units, owner-occupied housing units, renter-occupied housing units, and vacant seasonal housing units.

Vacant year-round housing units equal the difference between the sum of the three categories presented and the total housing units. This data will be especially useful to housing market analysts who consider vacancy as the most significant indicator of housing market conditions. In addition, vacancy and occupied housing units are variables in the formula for determining net household formation, another indicator of housing market conditions and trends.

This paper is a product of the Office of State Planning's State Data Center Program for census dissemination as outlined in Task 407 of the Work Program for fiscal year 1985. Staff responsible for preparation of this material are Chester F. Symanski, Principal Research Technician, James A. Andrade, Senior Computer Programmer, Joyce S. Karger, Junior Planner, and Beverly A. Mourachian, Principal Clerk Typist.

INTRODUCTION

The five summary tape files of the 1980 Census of Population and Housing differ in the amount of geographic and subject detail presented. As Table 1 indicates, the summary tape files contain the same data as several printed reports. However, the summary tapes do include statistical and geographic data in greater detail.

This paper presents selected population and housing characteristics for Rhode Island at the census tract level from Summary Tape File 1A, Summary Tape File 3A and the P.L. 94-171 Population Counts Tape File.

Table 2 compares the population items on the 1980 and 1970 census questionnaires and Table 3 compares the housing items on these questionnaires. Table 4, the main table in this paper, displays the total population, total white population, total housing units, total owner-occupied housing units, total renter-occupied housing units, and vacant seasonal units by city and town, census tract, and state totals for 1980. Table 5 shows similar data for 1970. Table 6 shows the percent of change for each variable by city and town and state totals.

Summary Tape Files

STF 1	This file provides 321 cells of complete-count population and housing data. Data are summarized for the United States, regions, divisions, States, SCSA's, SMSA's, urbanized areas, congressional districts, counties, county subdivisions, places, census tracts, enumeration districts in unblocked areas, and blocks and block groups in blocked areas. This file set includes data shown in the PHC80-1, PHC80-3, and PC80-1A reports.
STF 2	This file contains 2,292 cells of detailed complete-count population and housing data, of which 962 are repeated for race and/or Spanish origin groups present in the tabulation area. Data are summarized for the United States, regions, divisions, States, SCSA's, urbanized areas, counties, county subdivisions, places of 1,000 or more inhabitants, census tracts, American Indian reservations, and Alaska Native villages. This file set includes data shown in the PHC80-2, PC80-1-B, and HC80-1-A reports.
STF 3	This file contains 1,126 cells of population and housing data estimated from the sample for the same area as in STF 1, excluding blocks. This file set includes data shown in the PHC80-3 reports. In addition, the Census Bureau is exploring the possibility of producing STF 3 data for 5-digit ZIP Code areas on a cost-reimbursable, special-tabulation basis.
STF 4	This file is the geographic counterpart of STF 2, but the number of cells of data is approximately three times greater. STF 4 provides detailed population and housing data estimated from the sample, some of which are repeated for race, Spanish origin, and ancestry groups. Data are summarized for areas similar to those shown for STF 2, except that data for places are limited to those with 2,500 or more inhabitants. This file set includes data shown in the PHC80-2, PC80-1-C, and HC80-1-B reports.
STF 5	This file contains over 100,000 cells of population and housing data estimated from the sample and provides highly detailed tabulations and cross-classifications for States, SMSA's, and counties and cities of 50,000 or more inhabitants. Most subjects are classified by race and Spanish origin. This file set includes data shown in the PC80-1-D and HC80-2 reports.

1 = 1980 version is significantly changed from 1970 version in concept or amount of detail.

2 = "S" indicates sample information asked on the long-form questionnaire. 1980 items asked on a sample basis are asked of 16 2/3 percent of all housing units, EXCEPT for governmental jurisdictions of less than 2,500 inhabitants where the sampling rate is changed to 50 percent of all housing units. In combination, the two sampling rates produce a national sampling rate of approximately 19 percent.

3 = The question is not significantly different; the classification system (which is independent) is very different.

4 = "Derived" refers to items which do not appear on the questionnaire but, instead, are calculated by combining information from other items. For example, while no question specifically asks family size, family size can be determined based on responses to the household relationship question.

SOURCE: First Count Tape, 1970 Census of Population and Housing; Data originally programmed and displayed by the Sociology Department, Brown University.

1 The tract totals were developed by adding the constituent enumeration district or block group data. In some cases, the data was suppressed at the small area. Therefore, this data would not be in the tract total. In these cases, the sum of the tract data would not be equal to city or town totals. Therefore, two town totals are shown:

a) Sum of tract data.
b) Actual city or town totals.

In the case of the selected data in these tables, the differences between these totals are minor.

APPENDIX A

GLOSSARY

1. Census Tract — A small statistical subdivision of a county. Tracts generally have stable boundaries. When census tracts are established, they are designed to be relatively homogeneous areas with respect to population characteristics, economic status, and living conditions. Tracts generally have between 2,500 and 8,000 residents.

2. Complete Count — Data obtained from the entire population and all housing units. Those questions asked of everyone (i.e., those which appear on both the short and long forms) are known as "complete-count questions."

3. Geographic Areas — Classified as political or statistical. Political areas include the United States, states and outlying areas, congressional districts, counties, minor civil divisions, incorporated places (cities, villages). Statistical areas include: census regions and divisions, metropolitan statistical areas, urbanized areas, urban/rural, census county divisions, census designated places, census tracts, enumeration districts, block groups, blocks, zip code areas.

4. Housing Units — A housing unit is a house, an apartment, a group of rooms, or a single room, occupied as separate living quarters or, if vacant, intended for occupancy as separate living quarters. Separate living quarters are those in which the occupants live and eat separately from any other persons in the building and which have direct access from the outside of the building or through a common hall. Both occupied and vacant housing units are included in the housing unit inventory.

5. Migrating units — all vacant housing units held for occupancy by migratory labor employed in farm work during the crop season.

6. Population (universe) — 1) (noun) The number of inhabitants of an area. 2) (adjective) Referring to data about persons, as in "population characteristics". 3) (noun) A group of persons, housing units, or other entities included in a census, or from which samples are taken for statistical measurement.

7. P.L. 94-171 Population Counts — In accordance with Public Law (P.L. 94-171), the Census Bureau provided population tabulations to all States for legislative reapportionment/redistricting. The file was issued on a State-by-State basis. It contains the final population counts classified by race and Spanish origin. The data are tabulated for the following levels of geography as applicable: States, counties, county subdivisions, incorporated places, census tracts, block groups, and blocks or enumeration districts. For States participating in the voluntary program to define election precincts in conjunction with the Census Bureau, the data are also available for election precincts.

8. Sample Data — The statistics collected from the part of a population included in a sample in order to estimate information about the whole of that population. Sample data is also used to refer to the estimates of the characteristics of the population that are prepared.

9. Summary Tape File (STF) — A specified set of summary tapes issued from the 1980 census containing a broad range of characteristics of population and housing by area (corresponding terminology in 1970 "First Count File A,", etc.). The numeric character of the STF designation indicates the basic series of tapes which share the same subject matter and format. The alphabetic character identifies a part containing records for certain types of geographic areas.

10. Suppression — A procedure by which certain data items are excluded from public release to maintain confidentiality, i.e., to avoid the disclosure of information which could be associated with specific individuals or in the case of economic statistics, establishments. It is signified in the 1980 census printed reports by three dots (...) and with special flags on summary tape files.

11. Tenure — The classification of all occupied housing units as either owner-occupied or renter-occupied. A housing unit is "owner-occupied" if the owner or co-owner lives in the unit, even if it is mortgaged or not fully paid for. All other occupied units are classified as "renter-occupied", including units rented for cash rent and those occupied without payment of cash rent.

12. Units in Structure — The number of housing units in the structure in which the unit is located. The number of units in structures includes all housing units whether occupied or vacant, but excludes group quarters or businesses. The statistics are presented in terms of the number of housing units in structures of specified types and sizes, not in terms of the number of structures with housing units. A structure is a separate building that either has open space on all sides or is separated from other structures by dividing walls that extend from ground to roof.

13. Vacant Housing Unit — A housing unit is vacant if no one is living in it at the time of enumeration, unless its occupants are only temporarily absent.

14. Vacant Seasonal Units — Are intended for occupancy during only certain seasons of the year. Included are units intended for recreational use, such as beach cottages and hunting cabins; units offered to vacationers in the summer for summer sports or in the winter for winter sports; and vacant units held for herders and loggers.

15. Vacant Year Round Units — Are available or intended for occupancy at any time of the year. A unit in a resort area which is usually occupied on a year-round basis is considered as year-round. A unit used only occasionally throughout the year is also considered as year-round.

16. Vacancy Ratio — The total number of vacant dwelling units divided by the total housing inventory.
